POLICEWOMAN HONORED BY BEACH GANG

Beatrice Ingram, policewoman at the Mattapoissett Beach, was surprised on Friday by all of the regulars at the Beach who presented her with a card
and a silver bracelet with an engraved disc. The bathers wanted to express their appreciation and affection for Beatrice in some tangible way. Her efficiency makes the beach an orderly

Children's Concert

A free children's concert capturing the excitement of the circus; a young boy's dream of someday going to the moon; the subtleties of music that put imaginations to the test and the loyalty and determination of a shepherd boy to rid the world of evil will be presented by the Tri-County Music Association, Inc., and the Regional Symphonic Band on Sunday afternoon, September 24th, at 3 o'clock in the auditorium at Old Rochester Regional High School, Mattapoisett.

Under the baton of John R. Pandolfi, the talented musicians in the band and several talented people from the area will bring smiles to the faces of the youngsters and

"Plaza Suite"

ART CENTER TO OPEN SEASON

The Marion Art Center Theatre will open the 1972-73 Theatre Season with Neil Simon's hit play "Plaza Suite". "Plaza Suite" was first presented on February 14, 1968
in New York with George C. Scott and Maureen Stapleton in the trio-leads. It is a triple-barreled explosion of comedy and entertainment. Everyone will see someone they know.

The Art Center production will be directed by Nancylee S. Gaucher and try-outs for the show will be held at the Art Center on Wednesday, September 13th, and Thursday, September 14th, at 8:00 P.M. The Welcome, Silvina!

EXCHANGE STUDENT FROM ARGENTINA

Silvina Pereyra, a delightful import from the Argentine, has arrived in Mattapoisett and is getting to know the people and town before entering the fall term at Old Rochester Regional High School. Silvina is an American Field Service exchange student who will be part of the David McCormack family on Mattapoisett Neck for this school year.

Silvina already loves the town. She has studied English since she was seven and has little language barrier. If the Yankee slang or speed bothers her, she has a charming request for a repeat and she soon will not have to use it. Her sister Maria Elana has just returned home from an exchange student year in the United States with a southern drawl having been a student in the south. We'll send a New England accent home with Silvina to confuse the family. Silvina's father is Argentino Pereyra. He manages an auto supply company in the city of Mendoza. Her mother speaks four languages, English, French, Italian and her native Spanish. She works for the Cities Silvina plans a future in medicine. She is a graduate of the Compania de Maria, an all girl school in Mendoza, and will continue her education at the University of Mendoza after completing her school year at Old Rochester.

Mr. and Mrs. David McCormack will have an open house, sponsored by the American Field Service, at their home at Shell Beach on Sunday, September 10th, from 7 to 10 P.M. This is to introduce Silvina to all of the families in the Old Rochester School District who are invited to come to meet her.

BASIC BOATING COURSE

Mattapoisett Power Squadron is planning to offer the new improved Basic Boating Course in its educational program starting on Tuesday, September 12th, at Old Rochester Regional High School. This Basic Boating Course, although similar to the old Basic Piloting Course, has been modernized and corrected to include many items of interest to owners of small boats.

The basic safety considerations are still emphasized, however, the material has been completely revised into a new easier to understand and use format. This course is recommended for the beginning skipper
as well as the seasoned salt who wants a refresher course on rules of the road or other safety information.

One completely new section not offered previously, deals with boat trailering and details such things as construction, equip-

FLAGS BEAUTIFY FAIRHAVEN CENTER

A history of the American Flag can be read in the beautiful display at the Fairhaven Town Hall. The outer perimeter of the grounds is ringed by the flags of all 50 states. Now, in front of the building, newly installed poles carry the historic flags that are milestones of the evolution of our present banner. Some of them, such as the St George Cross and the Kings Colors, are little known to us. Others, such as the Pine Tree Flag, Don't Tread on Me and Grand Union are somewhat better known. Now, thanks to the generosity of businesses and individuals in Fairhaven, the whole set of these historic flags can be seen by the visitor to Fairhaven. Not only is this interesting from the historic viewpoint but it is marvelous from the decorative one. I don't know if another such display exists but certainly Fairhaven is to be congratulated for the colorful

"Living History"

"Living History" was its official title. But for 23 Old Rochester 7th, 8th and 9th graders, it was just plain living. For six fast-paced weeks this summer, the group was on the go, experiencing what's out there.

There were trips to TV stations, newspaper plants and telephone installations. There were airport visits, old and new, train rides, and beat excursions.

All this first-hand 'doing' was part of a federally-funded program to open up the worlds of transportation and communication to 30 district youngsters who might never have the opportunity otherwise.

But that wasn't all. The program also had a cultural side. For the last half of the program, participants spent their days and nights exploring museums and going to the theater. They visited, for example, the Museum of Fine Arts in Boston, the Fogg Museum at Harvard, and the Provincetown Art Association's summer exhibition. There were fun-filled moments, too, with the "Fiddler on the Roof" and "Robin Hood" at the South Shore Music Circus, and the "Superstar" rock blend at Falmouth Playhouse and "Godspell" at the Wilbur in Boston. Another highlight was "The King and I" at Cape Cod Melody Tent.

"But it wasn't all play," explained Director Ronald Norman. "These kids were busy learning, too." Before each planned activity the students devised a series of questions they wanted answers to. These questions were prepared by a special educational team and handed out to the members.

"Each one was assigned a question to ask on each of the planned field trips," Normand explained. "To aid their learning, we set up special audio, photography, and art teams. The audio team taped all interviews and key conversations. The photog group shot singles for slides in both color and black and white. The art group did sketches and drawings."

All of this software was processed when the kids returned to school. Responses to the questions were duplicated and handed out for study and discussion. Among the better learning aids developed over the six weeks was the word power lists. "The kids had a chance to test themselves and one another on the special language of the transportation and communication fields and later the theater and the museum", Norman said.

For the young people in the program, it all added up to a quite different kind of schooling. For Jeff Bassett of Mattapoisett it was 'much better than regular school. Reading about a place and going to it are not the same thing,' he said. His fondest wish is a school with a year round "Living History" program.

see a play or musical than eat. Well, almost. And that included Durgin Park.

For Director Normand and his team, it was a rewarding six weeks of hard work mapping out learning experiences, helping the young people involved to appreciate what was happening to them, and assisting them to ask the kinds of questions that would lead to meaningful learning. The task as Normand saw it was to give them just the right amount of challenge without blunting the enjoyment they could derive from the program.

"A program like this one," he volunteered, "really asks that the student give up a great deal of the freedom that he normally has during the summertime. To ask him to come and join you in doing the things you've planned is asking him to sacrifice his thing."

The program, designed for 30 students, suffered the loss of several participants early in the program. Normand explained that there were five or six students who either couldn't give the time to the program or who were unwilling to.

But for those who stayed (23 of them), it was a summer to remember fondly. They rode Edaville's 5 1/2 mile steam railroad

Ballet

CHILDREN'S - TEENS
ADULTS

Classes will be held in Marion and Mattapoisett.

CLASSICAL BALLET
Technique and Performance

Beginners, Intermediates, Advanced

To properly teach children the intricate and beautiful movements of ballet, classes will be held at a maximum of 10 or 12 students. Mrs. Gaucher's background in the field of dance is extensive and covers all types of dance. She is well known in the area for her keen interest in young people of the community and hopes to project a common interest in a serious dance group that will eventually perform in and for the community.

Registration by phone, Monday, Sept. 11
thru Friday, Sept. 16. 763-4264.

Special Class for pre-schoolers and boys
may be arranged.

BALLROOM DANCING taught to groups.
